THE South-Carolina GAZETTE.

THURSDAY, APRIL 30, 1772.

LONDON, JANUARY 16.

COUNT de Guignes, the French Ambaſſador, who arrived on Tueſday laſt, was yeſterday forenoon at Court, and had the honour of a private conference with his Majeſty.—We are told, that he has brought over freſh and ſtrong aſſurances from the King his maſter, of the pacific inclination of that monarch, and his ſteady reſolution to adopt no meaſures againſt his Britannic Majeſty, which may tend to interrupt the mutual peace, now ſo firmly eſtabliſhed.

Colonel Luttrell has lately received an anonymous letter, diſſuading him in the ſtrongeſt manner from making any public recantation of his principles and conduct in the Middleſex election, and from offering himſelf as a member of the Bill of Rights. The arguments are drawn from the neceſſity that both the Colonel and the Patriots ſhould ſupport ſome character, which would be entirely forfeited on both ſides, if he ſhould diſavow the only point in politics he ever yet maintained, and they ſhould receive ſo bare-faced an apoſtate with open arms. A middle track is recommended to him, in which his ſerviees will be accepted, and highly acknowledged by the Patriots. From ſome particularities, the letter is ſuppoſed to have come from the pen of the celebrated JUNIUS.

PARIS, Jan. 3. A few days ago died, of the gout in his ſtomach, Mr. Helvetius, one of the moſt eſteemed geniuſes of the preſent age, much regretted by every one, but particularly by the learned world. He is ſaid to have left behind him ſeveral poſthumous works.

LONDON, JANUARY 18.

The Earl of Cheſterfield, in a late converſation with ſome perſons of the firſt conſequence, on the Duke of Cumberland's marriage, obſerved, that it was in his opinion highly impolitic in the Court to act as they do in reſpect to it. They do not ſeem to be aware, ſays he, that it is one of the moſt lucky ſtrokes in the world for them; for as the King has ſo many children, he has nothing to do but to diſpoſe of them as they grow up among thoſe families that have the greateſt parliamentary intereſt; and by this means he may ſecure a permanent majority without any tax upon his civil liſt.

Yeſterday his Excellency James Harris, Eſq; who is appointed his Majeſty's Ambaſſador to the Court of Berlin, in the room of R. Gunning, Eſq; took leave of his Majeſty; and on Monday he propoſes to ſet out on his Embaſſy.

Their Graces the Dukes of Northumberland and St. Albans had a long conference with his Majeſty at the Queen's palace yeſterday, relative, it is ſaid, to a projected change in the Miniſtry, which is again become the topic of diſcourſe at the Weſt End of the town.

We learn from Maeſtricht, that at the election for the principality of Liege the majority of votes were in favour of Francis-Charles Count of Valbruck, Abbot of Cheminon, Archdeacon of Heſbaye, &c. ſo that this affair is looked upon as terminated. Prince Clement of Saxony, Elector of Triers, had only ten votes.

The French Court have at laſt ſettled the Canada claim.

On Tueſday morning died, at his ſeat at the Grange in Hampſhire, the Right Hon. Robert Henley, Earl of Northington, Lord Henley, Baron of Grange, Lord Lieutenant and Cuſtos Rotulorum of Hants, Recorder of Bath, and a Governor of the Charter-Houſe, and late Lord High Chancellor of Great-Britain.

Some overtures have been lately made to allure Lord Holland into active life again, but his Lordſhip has peremptorily refuſed. He has, however, promiſed, on terms high of advantage to his favourite ſon, his utmoſt aſſiſtance to the meaſures of adminiſtration through the whole of the enſuing ſeſſions.

It is ſaid, that the Hon. Charles Fox will ſhortly be called to the department of the Treaſury.

The Iriſh parliament is adjourned till the 4th of February next.

His Majeſty has been pleaſed to appoint John Gilpin Sawry, Eſq; to be Deputy Governor and Superintendant of the trade of Senegambia.

This morning, about three o'clock, a meteor was obſerved in the north-eaſt part of the hemiſphere, of an oval form, which moved with a rapid courſe towards the ſouth-weſt, till it came parallel with the moon, which was then going down, when it diſappeared in a kind of ſmoaky train.

JANUARY 21.

The Lord Viſcount Barrington, his Majeſty's Secretary at War, has appointed Anthony Chamier, Eſq; to be his Deputy in the room of Chriſtopher D'Oyly, Eſq.

Orders are given from the War-Office for all the officers belonging to the regiments in Scotland, to join their corps by the ſecond of February without fail.

On Friday laſt the Right Hon. Lord Sandwich, accompanied by all the Lords of the Admiralty, went on board the Reſolution man of war in Deptford dock, to ſee an experiment made of a machine, which is fixed in the ſaid ſhip, for the purpoſe of making ſea water freſh, and alſo for baking biſcuit and dreſſing different kinds of proviſions many different ways, by means of but one ſmall fire; which anſwered to general ſatisfaction.—Lord Sandwich eat part of a biſcuit that was baked, while proviſions of different ſorts were dreſſed for the ſhip's crew. It is the invention of a gentleman at Chelſea, who obtained a patent for it about ſix months ſince.

A young lady at the Weſt End of the town, of 4000l. fortune at her own diſpoſal, was laſt week married to a chairman.

READING, Jan. 18. The following remarkable increaſe of progeny (which may be depended on as fact) has fallen to the lot of Thomas Gates, a weaver, at Alton in Hampſhire: His firſt wife was twice delivered of twins; his ſecond, brought him three fine boys at a birth; and a third, which is his preſent wife, was on Wedneſday laſt delivered of a ſon, and about the ſame hour on Thurſday, brought him three fine boys more; all which are in a healthy thriving condition.

LONDON, JANUARY 22.

We hear that a noble Marquis has refuſed a conſiderable poſt in Adminiſtration, on account of one of his friends being rejected.

A gentleman obſerved at a coffee-houſe, on reading a certain Speech, that it was the worſt written, but carried the beſt meaning with it, of any that has ever yet been publiſhed; for, continued he, many Princes would have aſked for large ſupplies with a much better grace than our moſt gracious Sovereign tells us, that he has no demands whatever to make upon his ſubjects.

It is remarkable, that the addreſs moved for yeſterday, paſſed both houſes without the leaſt debate. In the Houſe of Commons indeed a ſingle NO burſt forth before the Speaker had got to the end of nemine contradicente, which occaſioned, according to cuſtom, a burſt of laughter. The principal ſpeakers in the oppoſition were preſent, and the houſe was very full. The buſineſs of the day, after admitting the new members, did not begin till ten minutes after two, and ended in about an hour. The motion for the addreſs was made by Lord Hinchinbrooke, and ſeconded by Mr. Vane.

We are informed, that a member of an auguſt Aſſembly intends obtaining a law this ſeſſion, that all criminals in Great-Britain condemned for tranſportation ſhall be ſent to the Britiſh ſettlements upon the coaſt of Africa, there to work and ſerve as ſoldiers during the time of their ſentence. As the African company can maintain a ſoldier upon rice for ſix-pence a day, and likewiſe cloath him, it will ſave the company a very conſiderable annual ſum, and will leſſen the enormous charge of the African forts to government.

We have it from the beſt authority, that when Lady Waldegrave pays her private viſits to the Royal Family, ſhe is always received by them in the character and title of Ducheſs of Glouceſter.

JANUARY 25.

We have been favoured by a correſpondent with the following authentic account of that extraordinary revolt which lately happened amongſt the King of Denmark's guards at Copenhagen:—On Thurſday, December 24, four companies of the foot guards (the fifth remaining on duty at the King's palace, until relieved by the Daniſh regiment) were aſſembled in order to be incorporated into five ordinary marching regiments; but being acquainted with the intention of their being degraded, Mr. Numſen's company laid down their arms, and declared, they would never ſubmit to ſerve in any other regiment, upon which this company was committed to the guard-houſe. The King's company, in order to deliver their comrades, had forced the doors, when they thought of a proper method of redreſs, by complaining to the King himſelf, then at Fridrichſberg. The remaining companies went to the King's palace at Copenhagen, joined the company there on ſervice, and fortified themſelves in the inner court of the palace, being reſolved to fight bravely if they ſhould be attacked. The other company, ſenſible that the weſt gate of the town, as the neareſt to Fridrichſberg, would be ſhut, or well guarded, went to the northern gate, forced the paſſage, and when they came to the grand avenue that leads to Fridrichſberg, they choſe a leader, ſuppoſing the dragoons would be ſent after them; the leader remembering that they had been taught to oppoſe the attacks of cavalry in a ſquare battalion, formed one, and conducted his little army to the King's houſe, in the greateſt order, with their muſkets ſhouldered. Their intention was to requeſt the King, either for their diſmiſſion, or leave to ſerve him in their former condition, with only the pay of a common ſoldier. The captain ſeeing his company going to Fridrichſberg, got before them, in order to acquaint the Miniſter of their intention: The Miniſter ſent him back immediately, when he found they had reached the Aid-de-camp on duty, to tell them, that the King never intended to keep any body in his ſervice by force, and granted them their diſmiſſion. They returned immediately to the town, and wherever they paſſed the inhabitants gave them money, and extolled them for their intrepidity and firmneſs. The two companies who had fortified themſelves in the inner court of the King's palace were not ſo eaſy to be quieted. Two General Officers went to them, flattered them, and ſhewed them a paper which they had pretended to be an order for giving them their diſmiſſion; but they refuſed to leave their place of ſafety before they had ſeen that order with the King's name. All the grenadiers of the gariſon were then ordered to aſſemble with their muſkets charged, in order to attack them, if they quitted not the place before two o'clock in the morning; but ſofter means were uſed; the Generals delivered them, at one o'clock in the morning their diſmiſſion, ſigned by the King. The inhabitants furniſhed them while they were beſieged, with victuals and wine, and animated them not to yield. The mariners were ready at the firſt ſtroke againſt the guards to aſſiſt them, and they threatened to murder the whole gariſon. The 25th, in the morning, the carpenters of the King's navy, who are the braveſt of all the mariners, aſked the guards if they were ſtill injured, begged they might be called for whenever they had the leaſt reaſon for complaint, and they ſhould find them brave and faithful fellow-citizens.

The ſingle member who had ſpirit enough to oppoſe the addreſs on Tueſday laſt, was that independent Baronet Sir Robert Clayton.

It is ſaid that matters have been amicably compromiſed between the popular and unpopular heroes of Middleſex; as ſoon as the latter vacates, the former claims, and takes his ſeat in the Houſe of Commons; and the former engages his intereſt for the latter to ſucceed him as Sheriff for the county the enſuing year.

The Miniſtry have agreed with Mungo (as they find the Colonel too reſolute and obſtinate for them to cajole) that he ſhall ſtand for Middleſex on the expected vacancy; but as they would not riſk the life of ſo uſeful a member of the Junto, he is prevailed on to go in his miſtreſs's cloaths, to eſcape a pelting, till he reaches the huſtings; and there Lord Mansfield is to provide a man who will agree, rather than be tranſported, or condemned to the pillory, to ſtand before Mungo during the poll, to ſcreen him from the populace.

The Miniſtry, not content with exerting the full force of their Treaſury ſinews, are endeavouring all they call to take the Eaſt-India affairs entirely under their direction; by which they will be perpetually enabled to ſecure any majority in the houſe they think proper, and in all probability bring on (if not timely checked) what Mr. Locke has foretold, "a diſſolution of our Liberties by Parliament." This is their intention is pretty clear from the latter part of the King's Speech, where he mentions, "That ſome parts from the remoteneſs of place, and other circumſtances, are ſo liable to abuſes, as to require the interpoſition of Government;" and indeed if he wanted a note of illuſtration, its able commentator, the Hon. Frederick Vane, in ſeconding the Addreſs on Tueſday laſt in the Houſe, fully explained it in the cloſe of his Speech the ſame day. His words were to this purpoſe: "As we are then, Sir, by his Majeſty's unwearied attention to the good of his people, freed from the dangers and calamities of war, bleſſings which we never can be ſufficiently grateful for, and which poſterity alone will feel, it behoves us to turn our attention (as graciouſly recommended by his Majeſty) to the cultivation of ſalutary laws, particularly in thoſe countries, where from their remoteneſs, and other cauſes, not only the commercial, but the criminal ſyſtem are ſo neglected or perverted, that the people there are under the dominion of Men, not Laws; and what can be ſo proper an object of attention as to put into the hands of government a controuling power, not only to check theſe abuſes, but to provide in future againſt their regenerating?" Lord Clive, though a Child of the Eaſt-India Company, nurtured and fortuned under its immediate protection, was in the Houſe, fully prepared, in caſe of a debate on this point, to militate againſt his Parent, as were ſeveral of the Directors, who, it is confidently ſaid, the Miniſtry have brought over to their ſcheme.

Letters from Naples ſay, that the Court is going to ſuppreſs all ſinecures and eccleſiaſtical benefices, to which no charge of ſoul is annexed, and to appropriate the revenues thereof to the relief of the poor.

The Paymaſter General has appointed John Garnier, Eſq; to be Deputy Paymaſter to his Majeſty's forces in North-America, in the room of Iſaac Bevan, Eſq; deceaſed.

JANUARY 27.

An authentic letter from Peterſburgh aſſures us, that the Empreſs has wrote a letter with her own hand to Gen. Weiſſman, (who lately gained a conſiderable advantage over the Turks) wherein ſhe tells him, that, after the example of the ancients, who decreed all ſorts of crowns for the valour of their Generals, ſhe made him a preſent of a cannon, that he might leave to his family an honourable remembrance of the trophies taken by him from the enemies; but as he would want a convenient ſpot wherein to place this monument of her benevolence and juſtice towards him, her Majeſty further joined thereto the preſent of a conſiderable eſtate in Livonia.

A ſcheme is now before Parliament for the excluſion of the Dutch and other nations from participating our herring fiſhery, or to pay an equivalent tax for the licenſe.

Notwithſtanding the miniſterial hirelings give out to the contrary, we have ſome authority to ſay, that Col. Luttrell has already taken ſuch ſtrong ſteps towards reſtoring the national rights of the freeholders, that there is ſcarce a probability of retracting.

Our correſpondent at Prague, the capital city of the kingdom of Bohemia, informs us, that ſo great has been the ſcarcity of bread-corn throughout the whole ſtate, that the poorer ſort of people, for ſeveral months paſt, have been compelled to live without bread; and that ſo great is the famine there at preſent, that neither cat nor dog is to be found alive in any part of that kingdom, the city of Prague excepted, the whole of thoſe two diſtinct ſpecies of animals having ſupplied the place of other animal food for ſeveral weeks.

The accounts from Stockholm, Vienna, Cologne, and ſeveral other parts on the continent, ſpeak of the great ſcarcity of corn, and the miſerable ſtate to which the inhabitants are reduced, inſomuch that many are daily expiring for want of the common neceſſaries of life.

JANUARY 28.

It is now ſaid that his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Glouceſter will reſide for ſome time abroad; in conſequence of which reſolution, and his improved ſtate of health, a fair friend of his will make an early viſit to the continent.

A correſpondent ſays, Lord North has declared that unleſs ſome bills for the ſecurity and advantage of the ſubject, are duly honoured by Parliament, he will no longer conſent to be the reſponſible perſon in the Adminiſtration; where, inſtead of being the leader, he is not allowed to carry a ſingle point that will recommend him to his country.

We have ſome reſpectable grounds for ſaying, that a change will happen very ſoon in the moſt capital departments of Adminiſtration.

Lord Holland promiſed about three months ago, that his accounts ſhould be ready in February for the inſpection of parliament; however it is now certain, that his Lordſhip, upon ſecond thoughts, has retracted his promiſe, till a more convenient time.

JANUARY 30.

As there has been no act of grace ſince Queen Ann conſort to requeſt of the King, one favour for the ſubject, it is confidently reported, that our preſent moſt gracious Queen has ſolicited his Majeſty to paſs an act of grace, as her Majeſty has been informed there are many unhappy perſons, who have been confined in the different priſons from twenty to forty years at the ſuit of the Crown. Old John, late a Crown priſoner in the King's-Bench, died on one of the Stair-Caſes on the common Side, at the age of 76, for want.

A ſettlement on the Miſſiſſippi, we hear, is expected ſoon to be carried into execution, the plan preſcribed to the Board of Trade having met with the neceſſary approbation, and only waiting the royal aſſent.

A motion was made yeſterday by Mr. Buller, and ſeconded by Commodore Hervey, to augment the number of ſeamen to 25 thouſand. Some objections were made to this motion by Admiral Saunders, Admiral Keppel, and Mr. Dowdeſwell, who all concurred in opinion, that the propoſed increaſe was too few, in caſe there were any apprehenſions of a war, and too many if there were no expectations of ſuch an event. Col. Barré ſpoke long and exceeding well for the augmentation; but cenſured the conduct of adminiſtration with great ſpirit and honour: The motion, however, was carried without a diviſion.

Tueſday a Petition was preſented to the Houſe from the merchants of Glaſgow, praying a bill to enlarge their Port and Harbour, and to introduce ſome new regulations neceſſary for their encreaſing commerce.

The Houſe of Commons is yet by no means numerous. Many of the members of the minority in particular have not yet

By a letter from Dublin dated January 15, we have received an account of the following eccleſiaſtical preferments having taken place in that kingdom: Dr. John Craddock, Biſhop of Kilmore, to the Archbiſhoprick of Dublin, vacant by the death of the Rev. Dr. Arthur Smith. Dr. Denniſon Cumberlad, Biſhop of Clonfert, tranſlated to Kilmore. The Rev. Mr. Joſeph Bourke, Deane of Killaloe, to the Biſhoprick of Clonfert. Dr. William Gore, Biſhop of Elphin, to the See of Limerick. Dr. Jennet Browne, Biſhop of Cork, to the See of Elphin. Dr. Walter Cope, Dean of Dromore, to the Biſhoprick of Cork. Rev. Dr. Mann, to the Deanry of Kildare, and to have the firſt vacant Biſhoprick; and to be ſucceeded in the Archdeaconry of Dublin by the Rev. Mr. Beresford, Lord Tyrone's brother.

A very cheap and comfortable meal for ſix people: Take a gallon of water, half a pint of ſplit peaſe, a pound of lean beef cut in pieces, ſix potatoes, two onions, two ounces of rice, with ſome pepper and ſalt. Put all into a pot, and bake it well in the oven.

The contrivance of baking, roaſting, and boiling, &c. that has been performed on board a man of war at Deptford, by a very ſmall fire, is the ſole invention of Doctor Dominiceti of Chelſea: it is called an œconomiſt, and will dreſs twenty different joints of meat at one and the ſame time.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, January 17.

"An advocate of the late parliament, one of thoſe who had not reſumed his place, being rather advanced in years, had ſome time ago fallen ſick, and was looked upon as dead. He was conſequently buried at the church of St. Hypolitus, pariſh St. Marcel, in a vault there. Eight days afterwards the vault was opened for another corpſe, and great was the ſurpriſe at finding the laſt coffin empty. Upon this the ſubterraneous cave was ſearched, and the body of the unfortunate Advocate found wrapped up in its ſhroud, which was much bloody. Upon examination it was concluded that he had only been in a lethargic trance, when buried in that vault; that probably the lid of the coffin being ſlightly nailed down, he had burſt it open, and having got out of it had groped about trying to find ſome outlet from the vault, but that overcome by his terrors, by the coldneſs of the place, and by hunger, he had fallen into deſpair, gnawed the fleſh off his arms, and died.

To what a ſtrange pitch of politeneſs and exterior civility is this world come!—On Monday at the Pantheon the warmeſt ſolicitations paſſed between Lord Mansfield and Mr. Edmund Burke; and yet can the latter perſuade himſelf that he is not now abſolutely known to be Junius, "From Treſillian to Jefferies, and from Jefferies to Mansfield," does not mean a correſpondency of principles, and to make a perfect trio of the three?—As Manly ſays in the play, "What a well-bred age do we live in!"

Yeſterday it was reſolved in the Houſe of Commons that 25,000 effective ſeamen, including 6664 marines, ſhould be employed for the ſervice of the current year; and that four pounds per month per man be allowed for maintaining the ſaid ſeamen, including the ordnance for ſea-ſervice.

The Court of Spain has made an exchange with the French King of the Spaniſh iſland of Luconia in the Eaſt-Indies for a tract of land adjoining to New-Orleans in America, on account of its vicinity to the Spaniſh territories.

Lord Suffolk obſerving to Mr. Wedderburne that he looked thin; "Yes, (ſaid the woeful Apoſtate) do you think, my Lord, a Scotchman can grow fat with eating his own words."

DUBLIN, January 18. Yeſterday the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council, in reſpect to the memory of the late Dr. Lucas, his great merit, and behaviour in Parliament for the city of Dublin, granted a penſion of 50 l. a year each to his widow Mrs. Lucas, and his three youngeſt children, to commence from the 4th of laſt November, on which day he died.

STOCKHOLM, January 3. The Magiſtrates of Chriſtiana, in Norway, have publiſhed there by ſound of trumpet, that the Intendant of the diſtrict had thought it neceſſary, in this time of ſcarcity, to deſtroy all uſeleſs dogs.

LONDON, FEBRUARY 6.

Mr. Bingley having received 250 l. from the Conſtitutional Society, has addreſſed a letter of thanks to Mr. Alderman Oliver, of which the following is an authentic copy:—To Richard Oliver, Eſq; treaſurer of the Conſtitutional Society. "Sir, I think it my duty in this public manner to return my moſt grateful thanks to the ſociety for the vote of 500l. and for 250l. of that ſum which I have received from the ſecretary by your deſire, which I know I ſhould have received ſooner but for the oppoſition of a gentleman from whom I had the leaſt reaſon to expect it, becauſe the publication of a paper in his defence was the crime originally imputed to me, and which produced my ſufferings.—I have ſuffered a cruel and induſtriouſly aggravated impriſonment of near two years, and which, for ought I knew, might have been for life, by the ſame unjuſt power, in Newgate and the King's Bench, the conſequences of which have been the ruin of myſelf, my children, and an aged parent depending wholly on my ſupport. Notwithſtanding which I rejoice in my ſufferings, ſince my perſeverance of refuſal to ſubmit to this dreadful and dangerous uſurpation has expoſed, and thereby moſt probably defeated, this attempt on the rights of Engliſhmen.—It is now neceſſary for me to apply by petition to parliament, not only for juſtice and redreſs, but likewiſe to diſcover who it is that really claims and exerciſes this arbitrary, unlimited, and undeſigned power of attachment; for the courſe of the proceedings againſt me has been ſo ſtrange, that I cannot diſcover where this power is pretended to be lodged. I was at firſt impriſoned by Lord Mansfield for a ſuppoſed contempt under the pretended authority of the Court of King's-bench, yet all the proceedings run in the King's Name, and at laſt I was left by Lord Mansfield entirely at the diſcretion of the King's Attorney-General.—Having no other ſupport but from the juſtice of my cauſe and the honourable ſociety of which you are treaſurer, I will chearfully proceed in a perſevering application to the Legiſlature, who alone can afford me redreſs in this caſe, and ſecurity to my fellow ſubjects; and I have full reliance that I ſhall meet with the ſupport of the Conſtitutional Society, and eſpecially of thoſe gentlemen who are members of the Houſe of Commons, which uſed formerly to be in an eſpecial manner the guardians of the laws, and of the rights and liberties of Engliſhmen.——I am gratefully, Sir, your very humble, and much obliged ſervant, W^m. BINGLEY."

A letter from Magdeburgh mentions, that a treaty of marriage is far advanced between Prince Frederick of Denmark, and Princeſs Sophia Albertina of Sweden, who with her mother, ſiſter to the King of Pruſſia, has been theſe four months at the court of Berlin.

Tueſday a lady at Lambeth, who is in the 59th year of her age, was brought to bed of a fine girl. She had been ill during the whole time of her pregnancy, and the phyſician, looking upon her diſorder to be a dropſy, was to have tapped her in a few days.

It was remarked, that his Grace of Grafton and Lord Camden were in cloſe converſation yeſterday, for more than half an hour, in the Houſe of Lords.

FEBRUARY 8.

From Comorn in Hungary; a fortreſs upon the Danube, our correſpondent of the 26th of December mentions, that on the 18th of the ſame month, a ſhip of twenty-five tons burthen arrived from Peſt at Comorn, which is about 180 Engliſh miles, againſt the ſtream, effected by a machine, which was worked within-ſide the ſame ſhip or veſſel. There were twenty-four ſoldiers expreſſly appointed to work this engine; twelve did duty at a time, and were relieved by the other twelve every half hour. It is the invention of father Poda, a jeſuit, who is the ſame perſon who lately invented an automaton, or wheel-carriage, that actually travelled without horſes at the rate of 108 Engliſh miles in thirty hours.

It is a ſcandalous truth, that Mr. Ardeſoif, a Frenchman, is at this time governor of Tilbury fort.

The expence of maintaining the augmentation of the military eſtabliſhment in Ireland for theſe two laſt years, has amounted to the ſum of 69,655 l. 13 s. excluſive of every other military expence.

Our letters from Vienna, dated January 11, adviſe that breadcorn having been exported in great quantities into Turkey is become very ſcarce, but that ſcarcity is not as yet felt by the poor, his Imperial Majeſty having given orders that they ſhall be daily ſupplied gratis from his own magazines, he himſelf ſuperintending the diurnal diſtribution.

A correſpondent ſays that the following aſſertions are facts, and may be depended on. For ſome time the Queen of Denmark has been infatuated with the idea of being a deſpotic Queen, which led her into ſuch freaks as made her huſband's ſubjects very often imagine ſhe was mad. When her Royal Mother was upon the continent, about a year and a half ago, and had an interview with her, the latter appeared in a leather breeches and a grenadier's cap. The Princeſs could not help expreſſing her ſurprize, ſaying, "Madam, I think this is a very odd dreſs to appear in before me." To which the other Lady replied, or in words to the ſame effect, "Where I reign I do as I like."—They met but twice. Not to mention public reports of a more atrocious nature, it is certain that ſhe had got an unlimited power over her huſband, which ſhe made a very indiſcreet uſe of, and that ſhe was entirely directed and governed by a perſon every way below her favour, and unworthy of her affection. He was here four years ago, and paſſed for a ſenſible and agreeable man, but was neither young nor handſome: nor is he a Scotchman or a Frenchman, as has been given out, but a Swiſs, and appeared here to enjoy much of his maſter's confidence. He was bred a common ſurgeon; yet, not content with raiſing himſelf to the greateſt rank in the kingdom, brought a ſet of low wretches into the firſt places of truſt and honour, in contempt of the nobility of the kingdom, who are the real actors in the preſent revolution.

We hear that James Kitching, Eſq; has ſucceeded Mr. William Carr, merchant, in Newcaſtle, as Collector of Sunbury in Georgia; a place worth 100 l. per annum. Mr. Carr declined going upon his marrying a lady of beauty, merit and fortune, in Newcaſtle.

The perſon of Struenſee, the Daniſh favourite, has been much talked of in the news papers; we think it therefore neceſſary to acquaint our readers, that he is a man about a middle ſize, under forty, and generally reckoned by the diſpaſſionate to be poſſeſſed of extraordinary abilities.

An ingenious American gentleman, to preſerve ſhips from lightening, has lately made ſeveral experiments at ſea, with conductors of copper wire chains, the thickneſs of a ſmall quill, the upper and lower links of which terminate in ſmall points; this chain is fixed to the main-top gallant-maſt, runs off the ſhrouds into the water, and conducts the lightening in ſuch a manner, that it prevents a ſtroke that might deſtroy a ſhip. A demonſtration of the efficacy of this machine was lately ſeen by Capt. Winn, on the coaſt of Florida, and in the windward paſſage by Capt. Paul Surman, who a ſhort time time ſince arrived from Jamaica.

A very great man in the oppoſition, on its being remarked to him that the Minority ſeemed now to have given up entirely the public cauſe in parliament, was pleaſed to ſay, "Sir, we are good ſubjects, and feel for the diſtreſſes of the King—the public cauſe is not abandoned, nor injured by a trifling ſuſpenſion—but a man muſt have a heart of ſteel indeed, not to let matters paſs ſmoothly on (taking care however that no real injury is offered the conſtitution by a corrupt majority) whilſt his Sovereign is racked with tortures, which a man of humanity would ſcarcely wiſh even his greateſt enemy to ſuffer.

Extract of a Letter from the Hague, January 21.

"According to the letters from Vienna, a courier returned there lately from Peterſbourg, with the anſwer of that Court to ſome diſpatches ſent thither ſome time ago, relative to the reconciliation between Ruſſia and the Ottoman Porte. This anſwer is couched in very polite terms, and expreſſes great ſatisfaction and gratitude on the part of the Empreſs of Ruſſia, for the pains which the Emperor and the Empreſs Queen had taken to promote her reconciliation with the Turks; but, at the ſame time, her Imperial Majeſty declares, that ſhe cannot condeſcend to accept the terms propoſed by the Grand Signior, but is determined to abide by the ultimatum which ſhe communicated to the Court of Vienna long ago, and from which ſhe is reſolved not to depart, eſpecially as the Porte had declared war againſt her on very ſlight pretences, and without any juſt reaſon. The ultimatum above mentioned, it is ſaid, contains that the Crimea, Budziac Tartary, and in general all that tract of land, as far as the left ſhore of the Danube, on the coaſt of the Black Sea, ſhall continue for ever under the dominion of Ruſſia; that this power ſhall enjoy a free navigation upon the Black Sea, have poſſeſſion of the town of Aſoph, and be indemnified for the expences ſhe has incurred by the preſent unjuſt war, &c. This anſwer is ſent to Conſtantinople, ſo that till the return of the courier, it is impoſſible to know the determination of the Porte, or form a judgment of peace being reſtored."

Two Ladies of quality, Mademoiſelle de Guignes and Mademoiſelle d'Aiguillon, quarrelled a few days ago about precedency, and carried their diſpute to ſuch a height, that they went into the garden and fought with knives, when one of them was wounded in the arm, and the other in the neck.

The Reſolution Man of War at Deptford, came out of dock on Tueſday. She had on board ſeveral ſmall veſſels, of different conſtructions, ready to put together whenever they may be wanted, for the purpoſe of examining creeks or harbours, in the proſecution of diſcoveries in the South Seas.

It is certain that all the Spaniſh regiments in Old Spain are in motion, and that this fact is not denied by certain perſons here; but in excuſe they ſay, that this is the time when the Spaniſh Government changes the gariſons of their ſeveral fortified towns.

FEBRUARY 11.

We are aſſured that his Majeſty had determined to ſend a meſſage to the Hon. the Houſe of Commons as yeſterday, recommending a bill to their conſideration for preventing any branch of the Royal Family from marrying without the conſent of the Crown. But the death of the Princeſs Dowager of Wales has occaſioned this buſineſs to be deferred for a fortnight. When this bill has paſſed into an act, it is thought the Duke and Dutcheſs of Cumberland will be received at Court.

FEBRUARY 13.

It is ſaid at Windſor, that the Dutcheſs of Cumberland has rallied her Siſter the D. of Glouceſter upon her being diſconſolate in the abſence of her Lord: "What do you mourn for ſays ſhe, you have got what you wanted; you married for a title, and that cannot leave you; a title, like the ſoul, can never die; come cheer up, my dear Siſter, and let the world ſee us the merry wives of Windſor."

They write from Portugal, that ſeveral Spaniſh regiments had lately made their appearance on their frontiers, which occaſioned various conjectures.

On Wedneſday laſt ſome Members of the Houſe of Commons carried ſome Bills to the Lords; the Lord Chancellor took the Bills without taking off his hat, as he ought to have done. This indignity to the Commons, and ſeeming affront to particular Members, was remarked by the Members. The Lord Chancellor being informed of it, was exceedingly frightened, and immediately wrote a circular letter to ſeveral of the Commons, apologizing for his conduct, and confeſſing his ignorance of the forms of parliament.

WARSAW, January 17. Advice arrived on Wedneſday in town from the Britiſh Ambaſſador at Vienna, that the treaty of peace which was in agitation between Ruſſia and the Porte is irreparably broken up. The chief obſtacle that prevented the above treaty taking place, was the independency of the Crimea, a point which Ruſſia inſiſted upon as the ſine qua non of her demands; but as this conceſſion would be conſidered by the Turks as injurious both to their honour and intereſt, they will ſee the enemy at the gates of the Divan before they will accede to it: ſo that both powers are preparing to begin in the Spring with the moſt hoſtile and vigorous operations.

LONDON, FEBRUARY 18.

The proceeding of the Commons on Wedneſday having been variouſly repreſented, we are happy in being able to give our numerous readers an authentic account of the tranſactions of that day.

Mr. Sawbridge moved that the ſeats of Lord Greville and Soame Jenyns, Eſq; were vacated, being appointed Lords of Trade in the new commiſſion lately made out in conſequence of the death of Mr. Fitzherbert.

Mr. Sawbridge contended, that not only Mr. Jollyffe, the new appointed Lord, had vacated his ſeat, but that all the gentlemen in the old who were appointed in the new commiſſion had likewiſe vacated their's. This doctrine was much objected to, and Lord North moved for the order of the day; which being objected to, a debate enſued.

Mr. Ellis ſaid, he could hardly think the honourable gentleman ſerious who made the motion. Mr. Sawbridge replied, he would ſatisfy the gentleman's doubts, by declaring upon his honour, that he was very ſerious; "as ſerious upon my motion continued he, as that gentleman always has been in ſupporting every meaſure of every adminiſtration."

The Houſe divided upon the motion for the order of the day. The Ayes were 117; the Noes 7. Tellers for the order of that day, Lord Clare and Peter Burrell, Eſq. Againſt it Mr. Sawbridge and Mr. Whitmore.

Lord Clare, in delivering the numbers to the Speaker, made a great blunder by declaring the Noes 117, the Ayes 7. Sir Fletcher roared out, "An old member to make ſuch a miſtake! I am aſtoniſhed." "Ireland in perfection!" ſays Col Barré.

No addreſs whatſoever will, it is ſaid, be preſented by the City of London on the death of her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs Dowager of Wales, for good and ſufficient reaſons.

Yeſterday the Princeſs of Brunſwick dined with their Majeſties, after which ſhe took her leave of the Royal Family, and at half paſt ſix ſet out for Germany.

It is thought that the deſired alterations in the Marriage Act will be carried in ſpite of all oppoſition, as alſo that no Bill whatſoever is intended to be brought into the Houſe, adverſe to the wiſhes of a matrimonial delinquent, notwithſtanding all the reports to the contrary.

The Lords of the Admiralty have appointed Molineaux Shuldham, Eſq; Captain of his Majeſty's ſhip Royal Oak at Portſmouth, to be commander in chief of his Majeſty's ſhips at Newfoundland, in the room of the Hon. Commodore Byron.

PROPOSALS

By THOMAS HUTCHINS, Lieutenant in His Majeſty's Royal American Regiment, and Engineer.

THIS MAP comprehends the whole Country that lies between the 36th and 47th degrees of latitude and the 79th and 94th degrees of longitude; in which the great rivers of Miſſiſippi and Ohio, with the numerous ſmaller ſtreams, which empty into them, as well as the Lakes Erie, Huron and Michigan, are accurately delineated; every conſiderable town of the various Indian Nations, who inhabit theſe regions, with the extent of their reſpective claims, are alſo particularly pointed out.

This MAP contains an extent of more than eight hundred miles in length, and nearly ſeven hundred in breadth, which is not excelled; hardly equalled by any country on the face of the earth for its beauty and the fertility of its ſoil, and which muſt ſoon become a moſt important and very intereſting part of the Britiſh empire in America.—The Author aſſures the Public, that a great part of the country and moſt of the rivers and lakes are laid down from ſurveys, corrected by the obſervation of latitudes, carefully executed by himſelf, on the campaigns he had the honour of ſerving during the whole of the laſt war, and the department he has been conſtantly employed in ſince the final treaty with the weſtern and northern Indians in 1764.

This MAP, which is delineated on a ſcale of twenty miles to an inch, ſhall be neatly engraved, and accompanied with an analyſis, or a particular deſcription of the face of the country, its lakes, rivers, timber, ſoil and climate.—The whole to be ready for delivery as ſoon as the Subſcribers amount to a number adequate to defray the unavoidable expence of the publication.

As the Author has been particularly requeſted by a number of gentlemen to undertake and publiſh this MAP, and one hundred ſubſcribers are already engaged, he wiſhes, for the purpoſe of more ſpeedily accompliſhing the deſign (and as the work is meant and intended for the general benefit, and information of His Majeſty's good ſubjects) that thoſe in SOUTH-CAROLINA who may think proper to encourage it, will as ſoon as poſſible, ſend their names to PETER TIMOTHY, Printer in Charles-Town.

Lately publiſhed,
